

Riverina Local Land Services

Protecting Parrots Field Day Friday September 14 | 10:30am - 2pm

The Lachlan Fold Wildlife Action Group and Riverina Local Land Services invite you to Rankins Springs to learn all about the vulnerable Turquoise Parrot and the 'Protecting Parrots' project that's underway.

Hear from:

Chris Tzaros Birds, Bush & Beyond - with years of involvement in wildlife conservation, Chris has a passion for bird and wildlife photography and has won multiple Australian Geographic Nature Photographer of the Year awards for his images

Graham Fifield Greening Australia - fascinated by the environment from a young age, Graham is now a Senior Project Manager and over the last decade he has overseen several significant restoration projects in South East NSW

You'll learn more about the species, and see a demonstration on habitat restoration and management. We'll then take a guided bird watching tour at a nearby destination to look for Turquoise Parrots and other bird species.

Please meet at the Rankins Springs Golf Course (Lake Cargelligo Road, Rankins Springs) at 10:30am. We will then all follow in our own vehicles to the bird watching site.

facebook.com/riverinalls/

twitter.com/LLSRiverina

www.lls.nsw.gov.au/riverina

This event forms part of the Lachlan Fold Wildlife Action Group 'Protecting Parrots' project funded by Riverina Local Land Services, Office of Environment and Heritage, Catchment Action NSW and the National Landcare Program.

National Landcare
Program

*Photos by Chris Tzaros

Please RSVP by September 6

Please bring drinking water and binoculars, wear sturdy enclosed footwear and a hat. Morning tea and picnic lunch will be provided - please RSVP for catering purposes!

jess.hill@lls.nsw.gov.au or 0419 867 649